We no longer give points for job offers

As of March 25, 2025, we're removing job offer points from the Comprehensive Ranking System for current and future candidates in the Express Entry pool. This includes job offers:

- classified under Major Group 00 of the National Occupation Classification (for example, senior management positions) (200 points)
- in any other skilled occupation (50 points)

It may take a few days for your score to show correctly.

▼ What isn't changing

If having a valid job offer is part of your eligibility criteria, this won't change. This includes:

- the Federal Skilled Trades Program
- the Federal Skilled Worker Program
- some streams under provincial nominee programs

You should still include the details of any job offers in your Express Entry profile so you stay eligible for these programs.

What is a CRS score

The Comprehensive Ranking System (CRS) is a points-based system that we use to assess and score your profile and rank it in the Express Entry pool. It's used to assess your:

- skills
- education
- language ability
- work experience
- other factors

To get an invitation to apply, your CRS score must be above the minimum points score of your round of invitations. Cut-off scores may vary each round.

When to use this tool

Use this tool if:

- you're eligible for at least 1 Express Entry program and you have not filled out an Express Entry profile but you'd like to see what your CRS score might be if you do, or
- you were invited to apply for permanent residence, and you want to see if a change to your profile will affect your CRS score
